And today's financial tip:

Track your income and expenses. You can only manage what you can measure and the best way to begin to clean up your finances is to have a good understanding about where your money goes each day. Record in a book all the items you purchase so that you can track your spending patterns. When tracking your spending it is important that you differentiate between your needs and your wants. This will help you to eliminate any unnecessary spending. The key is to trim your expenses by avoiding impulse shopping. By tracking your spending patterns you will learn where you can cut back to increase your savings.
